After the mob had been driven away, Abbé Lacour, the incumbent, collected the fragments of the sacrament and replaced them in the ciborium. As he did so, he was heard deeply lamenting. People in the houses near by, extinguished the bonfire.

Midnight.—Since 8 o'clock the demonstrators, so far as Gare de l'Est, have been repeatedly driven back by police charges, the crowd crying "Vive l'Armee!" and "Vive la République!"

The police also dispersed a crowd of gamins, who were burning bundles of newspapers. About 10 o'clock disorders occurred in the Boulevard de Magenta and Boulevard de Strasbourg. Several revolver shots were fired, but nobody was injured.

The newspaper kiosks were burned, and several arrests were made in connection therewith.

There is no change in the situation at the building in the Rue de Chambord, where M. Jules Guérin and his anti-Semite companions are entrenched in a state of siege against police who have orders for their arrest.

Up to a late hour fifty-six persons have been reported injured. A body of rioters who had taken refuge in the Gare de l'Est, was expelled by the police, who made twenty-five arrests. Quiet has now been restored.

FIGHTING KEPT UP.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] PARIS, Aug. 20.—Besides St. Joseph's Church, two cafés were wrecked. At a late hour 20,000 people were in the Boulevard de Magenta, which runs past the end of the Rue de Chambord. They were kept constantly moving by the Republican Guards, who made a remarkable display of force. Large bodies of police were constantly operating in the Rue de Chambord, and a large force is in readiness at the peasant barracks.

In the collision between the anarchists and Guérinistes, the rioting was serious, and two companies of guards charged the rioters. Fifty policemen were seen striking wildly at every person they met on the boulevard. A lad was knocked down, and, while trying to rise, a policeman literally jumped over him. According to some, paving stones were torn up and used as missiles.

In the Avenue de Tallybourg there was a fierce conflict. The police had to draw their swords against the anarchists, who assailed them with stones. Four policemen were wounded, two seriously, and had to be taken to the hospital. A lamentable feature of the affair is that it will be regarded as a pro-Dreyfus demonstration and react greatly to the detriment of the chance of acquittal. It is much to be feared that the conflicts were due to the weakness of the government displayed over the Guérin affair. The government's desire to avoid bloodshed has been misinterpreted with the worst results.

It appears that the anarchists' demonstration was decided upon at a meeting held Saturday night. The Journal du Peuple published a manifesto denouncing the military party, the monarchists and the priests, and urged its supporters to meet force with force. "Should Dreyfus be convicted," said the manifesto, "it will be triumph of bandits. Should he be acquitted, the military section will be open to rebellion."

The paper called on all anarchists to demonstrate against the priests and the Jesuits. Copies of the manifesto were scattered broadcast, and the result was that the anarchists flocked into the streets singing the "Carmagnole" and crying "A bas Rochevel!" "A bas Drumont!" and "A bas Guérin!"

THE INJURED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] PARIS, Aug. 21, 4 a.m.—The Prefecture of Police gives the first statistics of yesterday's riots. Three hundred and eighty persons were injured. Three hundred and sixty were taken to the hospitals. Fifty-nine police agents were wounded, besides Commissioners Coutier and Dolomine. One hundred and fifty persons were arrested, of whom eighty are detained in custody.

Guérin Storms Over the Seizure of Donated Provisions.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] PARIS, Aug. 20.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Guérin affair is becoming a complete farce. "A leg of mutton and other provisions having been thrown from a house opposite, and having fallen into the street, they were seized by the police. M. Guérin, enraged at the loss of his Sunday dinner, flung the window open and shook his fist, exclaiming: 'If a single one of my men should complain of hunger, I will blow Lépin's (prefect of police) head off, the first time he passes through the streets. You policemen who have the misfortune to serve a band of scoundrels ought to be hung up to go. You can't allow us to die of hunger.' Ah, bon Dieu, but we shall resist. Send us up what our friends have thrown us, or fire us at once, savages!"

Echo de Paris Says the Whole Document is Not Presented.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] PARIS, Aug. 20.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Echo de Paris, in commenting upon the testimony offered at Rennes by Capt. Cuignet, former attaché of the Ministry of War, to whom was assigned last year the task of collecting material bearing upon the Dreyfus, Picquart and Esterhazy affairs, says:

"Capt. Cuignet's evidence shows that the whole secret dossier has not been communicated to the court-martial. A document has been withheld which proves the existence of a vast network of espionage under the direction of foreign military attachés and of negotiations on the subject of the Dreyfus case between several French notabilities and the representatives of foreign powers."

"The dossier, moreover, contains proof that the sum of $25,000,000 was received in France from abroad for the purpose of prosecuting a pro-Dreyfus campaign."

Court-Martial at Rennes Reconvenes at the Usual Hour—Labori Not Permitted by His Physicians to Be Present at the Session.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

RENNES, Aug. 21.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Dreyfus court-martial reconvened this morning at the usual hour. Maitre Labori was not present. His doctors considered that it was advisable for him to attempt to take part in today's proceedings, in view of the danger of a relapse.

The witness was Col. Fabre, who deposed that he had discovered a similarity between the handwriting of the accused and that of the bordeau. He reiterated his conviction of the guilt of Dreyfus, saying: "I am sure he wrote the bordeau."

GEN. MERCIER'S VIEWS.

Dreyfus Will Be Condemned—Aliens Have No Right to Intercede.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

RENNES, Aug. 20.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Gen. Mercier, who was Minister of War when Dreyfus was condemned, and who, in the present trial is virtual prosecutor, was called upon, this afternoon, by the correspondent of the Associated Press, who invited him to make a statement of the position of the anti-Dreyfusards. Although unable to receive the correspondent in person, Gen. Mercier sent his oldest son to express his views.

Notwithstanding the Peace Congress strictures, England is increasing her output of Dum Dum bullets. A slight change, more for appearance than for anything else, is being made, and the bullets are being manufactured with the greatest expedition, in view of a possible war outbreak.

"Gen. Mercier considers it useless to attempt to convert foreign opinion regarding the Dreyfus question in which, moreover, foreigners have no right to intervene. Foreigners have been misled by their press, which is violently Dreyfusard, for the good reason that a majority of the foreign newspapers have been bribed by the Jewish syndicate. Gen. Mercier considers that anything he might say explaining his position, which is that of a majority of the French people, would be useless. The best reply to Dreyfusard statements abroad will be the condemnation of Dreyfus."

"This condemnation is only a matter of time. A fortnight for condemned Dreyfusard will be given. Foreigners will then see that their journals have deceived them, for they will recognize that the mass of the French nation, who will receive the news of the conviction of Dreyfus as joyful tidings, is not composed of officials, and the majority of the French applaud the conviction. It will be because it is just and deserved."

The Associated Press correspondent then called upon Maitre Labori, who lives within 200 yards of Gen. Mercier, the house of both being guarded by gendarmes and detectives, who sit in chairs in the roadway in front of the houses. Labori was taking the air in the garden. He has been suffering severely from neuralgia and today was feverish and excited. The wound itself has not made the progress the doctors hoped for, although there has been no relapse. In view of his general condition, his medical advisers oppose his going to court tomorrow, as he had desired. They predict that the exertion would overtax his strength as to compel him to give up his bed, which he would probably leave in that event for a month.

Tuesday or Wednesday, therefore, will more probably see his reappearance in court. He will be provided with a specially-constructed chair that will enable him to conduct the cross-examination at the out-of-court rising from his seat. M. Labori is seriously anxious to return to court, even if he has to be carried there in an ambulance. He is dissatisfied with M. Demange's conduct of the case thus far, and on his return he intends to have Gen. Mercier and the other generals placed upon the witness-stand. After reading their evidence, he is confident of his ability to crush Mercier, and he expects to use the Schneider and Panizzi telegrams also to confound the general.

PREDICTS AN ACQUITTAL.

M. Leon Bureau on the Court of Cassation's Powers.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SEATTLE (Wash.), Aug. 20.—M. Leon Bureau of Paris, formerly private secretary to M. Labori, the city a guest of Dr. J. J. Monod, French Vice-Consul. He said today that the present trial of Dreyfus will result in his acquittal. If a verdict of guilty is returned, the Court of Cassation, the highest French authority, will at once set it aside and order another court-martial, and so on until he is acquitted. This court knows that French law is being jugged with by this military court, and there are two grounds on which it could set aside such a sentence, the violation of the law and a second, abuse of power. He said:

"When the Court of Cassation sent Dreyfus back for a second trial, he was remanded on the charge of having been the author of the bordeau. Now, this is the only thing that could be tried for, and of course, to do so, the court has permitted witnesses to talk of his relations with women and other outside matters which is directly a violation of French law. If some matters not connected with the bordeau should come up in testimony proving Dreyfus' innocence, the court-martial could not try him; the Court of Cassation would have to order a new trial for the specific purpose."

M. Bureau said it was within the power of the Court of Cassation to have Dreyfus immediately freed. In fact, there were but two things for the court to do: Either judge him not guilty or send him back for retrial. This latter proceeding was deemed best, as through a retrial a medium would be furnished and so give the military party a second chance. It would look so much better in the eyes of the world, and help to take away the odium any acquittal by the Court of Cassation would make.

M. Bureau is a lawyer and a friend of Dreyfus' family. He left France four months ago, and has been traveling in the United States and Canada.

Secretary Root Studying the Map of the Philippines—Thinks the Enemy Can Be Divided East and West, as Well as North and South.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The map of the Philippines and especially of that portion of the island of Luzon north and south of Manila, which has been prepared for the use of Secretary Root, will assume a more important part in the coming campaign than has been given it heretofore. Secretary Root has not only ascertained where the United States troops are located and has it marked off on the map, but he has also taken into consideration such information as can be obtained relative to the population of the adjacent country, the kind of people and their disposition toward the United States.

The Secretary has been studying the lines of the campaign and learning what he can of the geography of the country. It is believed that in the event of hostilities with the Transvaal, Great Britain will either have an arrangement with Portugal which will allow her to occupy the bay, or else that she will seize it.

He was a native of Vainville, O., and studied his profession at the College of Medicine, Cincinnati, from which he was graduated in 1846. Democrats, Populists and Silver Republicans Will Probably Declare Against the Administration and for Free Silver.

ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT. OMAHA, Aug. 20.—The State conventions of the Democrats, Populists and Silver Republicans of Nebraska will meet in this city Tuesday, August 22, to place in nomination as candidate for Justice of the Supreme Court and two members of the board of regents of the State University.

There will be a strong attempt made to fuse the three parties on all things, with a good prospect of success. Ex-Gov. Holcomb is the leading candidate for the Supreme Court, and the outlook is that he will receive the nomination. Col. W. J. Bryan is a delegate and it is reasonably safe to predict that his wishes will govern the actions of that body. This means that fusion will be a go, and the platform will declare for free silver. There is likely to be some friction before fusion is effected and a long-drawn fight on some of the questions, but the general opinion is that they will come together.

The platform will in all probability declare against expansion, and criticize the administration for its conduct of the war.

TRUST CONFERENCE.

One Proposed for Chicago in September Next.

ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT. NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Ralph M. Easty of Chicago, secretary of the Civic Federation, is in New York on business connected with the proposed conference on trusts and combinations, to be held in Chicago from September 13 to 17.

Mr. Easty is enthusiastic about the prospects of the conference. "I would like to correct an impression that apparently prevails in some quarters that the conference is to be distinctly an anti-trust meeting," he said. "The conference is really called for the purpose of discussing, educationally, trusts and combinations, and their uses and abuses. It may be a representative, non-political meeting."

The delegation from Nebraska, headed by W. J. Bryan, will be an interesting one, and Mr. Bryan has telegraphed that he will positively be present.

In speaking of the New York delegation Mr. Easty said that, although it appeared to be largely composed of men whose sympathies were supposed to be with the trusts, yet it would meet many eastern delegates composed of anti-trust men.

British Consuls Must Now Look for Trade Possibilities.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Aug. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The United States has set the fashion of having its consuls carefully study the commercial capabilities of countries to which they are sent, and report fully for the benefit of exporters and importers. British consuls have recently been vigorously stirred up on this matter, and are furnishing full accounts of the possibilities for fresh trade.

The report of the Consul in Morocco, just issued, must have been a shock to serious Downing-street officials. He says that were English drummers to overrun Morocco there would be "any number of orders and an equal number of bad debts." That, he says, is the only useful information he can furnish to British merchants.

Steamer Roanoke Brings a Quarter of a Million.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SEATTLE, (Wash.) Aug. 20.—The steamer Roanoke arrived tonight from St. Michaels, Alaska, with 350 miners and gold dust estimated at $250,000. Most of this was brought out of the Cape Nome district.

G. Price had the largest individual amount, about $60,000. The failure of the Roanoke to bring a larger amount of gold dust from Dawson is explained by the fact that she failed to make connections with the Yukon-River boats at St. Michaels.

The Roanoke brings further particulars of the founding of the river port of Louise. July 31, with three barges, two of which carried United States government supplies, near the mouth of the Yukon in a storm. The Louise has been raised and taken to St. Michaels for repairs. Her hull is badly damaged and her upper works are badly twisted. The total loss is $50,000.

One of the barges, and its cargo, consisting of supplies for Fort Gibson, is a total loss. The cargo was valued at $30,000. It consisted of quartermaster's stores and a foder for cattle. It was not insured.

Capt. Reubins has been requested to the Quartermaster's Department at San Francisco to duplicate the consignment. With average good luck it will be able to get a barge up the river to Fort Gibson in time for the fall navigation. The other two barges were recovered but slightly damaged. One carried supplies for Fort Egbert, the other carried goods belonging to the Alaska Commercial Company. They have since started up the long voyage to the Roanoke to St. Michaels this year, as she will be taken by the government as a transport.

The Roanoke reports the steamer Portland was to have sailed for San Francisco shortly after the Roanoke left. The Portland would have about $100,000 worth of supplies for the Commercial Company. News is brought from Kotzebue Sound of the wreck of the schooner Morrill. Her captain, Louis Bernhardt, is reported to have been drowned.

To the long list of those who died of scurvy last winter at Kotzebue is added the name of Charles Leonard of Cleveland.

Of the soft music of the babbling brook that threaded the meadow green.

A shaded path, like the flowing trail that lead to the Promised Land, of longings, of dreams, of ecstatic bliss, there wandering hand in hand.

The dreamy cast of the tender eye that tinted the maiden's eyes she heard enhanced it, rivelant the azure skies.

A maiden fair as a painter's dream sat reading the words inspired by love.

And her heart, scarce scarred by the shafts of love, with admiration, was fired.

And she pictured the poet, half-man, half-woman, who lived with his head in the skies.

With clear-cut features of marble tint and pensive and dreamy eyes.

His smile, when on his shoulders fell like a silk-finish cataract.

And she vowed she would meet with him again.

And bask in the light of his pensive smile, for maybe, her fate was there.

She handed her card to the office boy; he took it with a senseless grin.

She heard a voice from the inner room: "I'm busy; but come in."

And she was ushered into a room at the shirt-sleeved man, at the collarless shirt he wore.

The woman, flushed from the old cob pipe he was pulling at made her sick.

His hair was clipped like a pugilist's, and his eyes were bright and clear.

And the soft eyes she had dreamed about had a sort of quintin glaze.

And the girl fell over herself three times as she staggered down the stairs. She carries a centerboard.

LONG-DRAWN FIGHT IS LOOKED FOR IN NEBRASKA.

Democrats, Populists and Silver Republicans Will Probably Declare Against the Administration and for Free Silver.

ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.

OMAHA, Aug. 20.—The State conventions of the Democrats, Populists and Silver Republicans of Nebraska will meet in this city Tuesday, August 22, to place in nomination as candidate for Justice of the Supreme Court and two members of the board of regents of the State University.

There will be a strong attempt made to fuse the three parties on all things, with a good prospect of success. Ex-Gov. Holcomb is the leading candidate for the Supreme Court, and the outlook is that he will receive the nomination. Col. W. J. Bryan is a delegate and it is reasonably safe to predict that his wishes will govern the actions of that body. This means that fusion will be a go, and the platform will declare for free silver. There is likely to be some friction before fusion is effected and a long-drawn fight on some of the questions, but the general opinion is that they will come together.

The platform will in all probability declare against expansion, and criticize the administration for its conduct of the war.

PORTLAND'S EXPERIENCE IN MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP OF WATER.

An Object Lesson for Los Angeles—The Battle of Bull Run, and the City's Success in Securing Pure Cold Water.

Some Adverse Arguments—Both Sides Given a Fair Hearing in The Times, as Usual—The Water Company Replies to Engineer Lippincott—Some Grave Legal and Business Phases Presented by Others.

EDITORIAL NOTE.

Pursuant to its established custom, The Times continues to give both sides of the water controversy a fair hearing in its columns. Even this binding subject shall constitute no exception in our well-established rule.]

Portland's Object Lesson.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 19, 1899.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It is nothing more than fair and right that the water supply of every city, every town, every metropolitan city, should be under control of the municipality. Private individuals and corporations deriving their existence from the linking together of individual interests, have no more right to sell the water which they have than those who have paid the price on the air which he breathes. The city needs the water for fire department use, and for the flushing of its sewers, and whatever it derives from selling water to citizens for domestic or industrial purposes, is an after consideration. It is nearly fifty-six years since Portland began this movement, and, in the main, it has been found to work well.

The city of Portland, in Oregon, however, now affords the best object lesson that can be asked for in this direction. That city is built upon the west bank of the Willamette River, which is built upon the White House to force the water up those hills, and next you will lay down new pipe lines in the westward direction. Asked the gentleman who had been sent to open negotiations for the purchase of the Willamette sewer, he said that their water was paying good interest on twice that sum.

"Yes, but what will you pay in the next six years, while you are overhauling your old pipes and putting in new ones in their place, as well as laying down new pipe lines in the westward direction?"

John Green stood aghast, and then stammered out: "Well, we have some extensions to make and some repairs; but not to any such extent as to warrant the cessation of profits from our water works."

"Well, you will have to lay about thirty miles of pipe in order to get water to people on the hills west of town; next you will require increased power at the White House to force the water up those hills; and next you will need seventeen miles of iron to replace the old wooden pipes down town. You won't get much water while that work is going on. If you do not take our water, we will put out a corps of engineers to survey a pipe line to Bull Run, and whenever that water gets to town, you can't be sold for any but manufacturing and laundry purposes."

Two weeks afterward, the Green & Leonard plant was sold to the Water Committee for $70,000 in bond of the city, principal and interest payable in gold at 6 per cent, per annum. They continued to pump the water from the Willamette sewer until 1894, when the pipes were discontinued, because he could not get water to drink.

Robert Pentland obtained a franchise for laying down water pipes in the city of Portland, and collecting rates for the use thereof. The proposition was one, however, which needed more money than he had, so he sold his interest to Henry C. Leonard and John Green, two merchants of that city, who soon found their new venture so profitable that they decided to abandon merchandising altogether. Mr. Green, who died about three years ago, was a resident of Salem, Oregon, and he had a family of five persons or less.

Robert Pentland obtained a franchise for laying down water pipes in the city of Portland, and collecting rates for the use thereof. The proposition was one, however, which needed more money than he had, so he sold his interest to Henry C. Leonard and John Green, two merchants of that city, who soon found their new venture so profitable that they decided to abandon merchandising altogether. Mr. Green, who died about three years ago, was a resident of Salem, Oregon, and he had a family of five persons or less.

At Fiesta Park yesterday afternoon over fourteen hundred enthusiastic admirers of the national game witnessed as good an exhibition of baseball as has occurred during the entire league race. The San Bernardino team, now in the lead for the pennant, was pitted against the reorganized Merchants, and the contest was a battle royal, from start to finish, either side having a chance of winning until the last man was out.

The "rooters" that filled the grand stand and the bleachers were very enthusiastic, and gave strong vent to their approval of the many sensational plays. The home run of Settles, that tied the score in the ninth, brought the crowd to their feet, and a sensational running catch made by Van Horn created scarcely less enthusiasm. Settles, for the Merchants, pitched good ball, and only allowed the visitors eight singles from his delivery. Both Cobb and Thurman for San Bernardino had several hits, but times, but showed a remarkable ability to steady down at crucial periods in the game. The catchers for both teams played excellent ball, and Mangerina should be credited with stopping some very difficult throws. Hogan, for San Bernardino, showed a strong arm and excellent judgment in handling the sphere.

San Bernardino was first at bat, and succeeded in scoring one run on an error by Mead and a two-bagger by Sunday into deep left. In the second inning the visitors added two more runs to their lead by a base on balls and singles by Mangerina, Hogan and Thurman. In the third, the Merchants woke from their trance, and succeeded in landing two men at the home plate. In the next inning San Bernardino scored two runs, while the both teams drew blanks until the seventh, when the visitors scored one on a base on balls and errors by Smiley and Sepulveda. San Bernardino added one more in the eighth. The Merchants added two to their score in the seventh, and tied the ninth, after two men had been retired.

With this turn in affairs, the excitement reached its height, and the "rooters" in the grand stand yelled themselves hoarse. The uncertainty was destined to be prolonged, however, as both teams played until the thirteenth, when Thurman got a hit on a single, stole second, reached third on an error by Noyes and scored on Smiley's暮 of an easy pop fly at right field. The Merchants were unable to fathom the mysteries of Thurman's play, and went out in one, two, three order, giving the long-drawn-out contest to the San Bernardino team by a score of 7 to 6. TEENNIS.

Santa Monica Tournament and What It Shows—The Press.

A brief résumé of the tennis tournament just completed at Santa Monica would show two things, first, that there is not enough competitive practice on the part of the local players, and, secondly, that there is too much of simpleness about their games, in their style and science. Summer Hardy of Oakland is a type of tennis player never seen here before, and some of the southern cracks will do well to imitate some of his methods. He does not play just to get the ball back, but to make every stroke count. He knows before each service what he intends to endeavor to do with his return, and he relies more on the placing of the ball than on its speed. He makes no unnecessary expenditure of energy, and attempts to put his opponent out of position more than to tire him. The all-owners' singles placed Bell, Braly, Hogan, Hart, and Settles in the semi-finals, and when this round came it proved that Braly and Daggett could not play their best game of tennis with any preliminary practice; that Bell was overconfident, and that Hardy did not come all the way down here to lose.

Again in the men's doubles a few things were apparent. That players do not organize early enough in the season and consequently lack team work, and that they have neglected the lob too long. The all-owners' men's doubles and the ladies' handicap event over the other players in the use of the lob was simply due to practice. The principal objection found in the ladies' singles event was the lack of new player and the small variety of strokes, the players being all of one use. They did not use the short lob at all, and Miss Ethel Sutton was about the only player who made use of the stroke from the shoulder, and the chop stroke. Here also there is too much of a similarity of play. But all in the show was very creditable, and this tournament was one of the most brilliant ever witnessed at Santa Monica.

The prize winners and their prizes were: Hardy, challenge cup and first prize; French clock, all-comers' singles, challenge cup and first prize; chafing dish, all-comers' singles, first prize; cold cuff links; mixed doubles. His partners, Way and Miss Dobbins, received a chafing dish and a hand glass, respectively. Alfons Bell, the runner up in the singles, took second prize, a cut-class decanter, and his name and his partner, Miss Violet Settles, received rackets as second prizes in the mixed doubles. Miss Violet also carried away the ladies' singles challenge cup and the first prize, a breast pin. Her sister, Miss Ethel, held second place in this event, and was presented with opera glasses. Hendrick and Shandough, second in the doubles, received silver-mounted linkstands, and Hendrick carries a beautiful empty flask for his victory in the consolation singles. His opponent in the finals of this event, Bell, won a pair of silver-backed military buttons. These handsome prizes were awarded by J. E. Cook, Tom Craig, M. G. Burmeister, M. E. Flowers and Hugh May.

The Southern California picked polo team will consist of R. L. Bettner and C. E. Maude of the Riverside Club, and Sidney W. Stillwell and C. E. Easton of the Santa Barbara Club. The players will take a number of ponies with them. Maude is a veteran player, and has participated in all of the matches between Northern and Southern California, both at Burlingame and in the south. The Santa Barbara players are members of the Santa Barbara County Club, which has extensive grounds and a clubhouse near the beach, several miles east of Santa Barbara, on the way to Miramar.

Burlingame's polo team has not yet been picked. The four men will be chosen from six possibilities: Joseph S. Tobin, Dick Tobin, Charles Dunphy, Walter Hobart, Lawson and C. A. Baldwin. Dunphy, though the youngest of the six is the hurricane player of the lot, and an expert driving goals.

It is expected that there will be a large crowd at Del Monte, aside from being an ideal spot for athletic matches, possesses beautiful grounds and much pictorial scenery.

The Season for Racing Now at Its Flood Tide.

BANKER WRITES FROM GERMANY.

European Crack-a-Jacks Propose to Visit America.

J. J. Jenkins, secretary of the local consulate of the League of American Wheelmen, has received a very interesting letter from George A. Banker, well known in eastern racing circles through his many tours with Zimmerman and other crack eastern riders. Banker was well acquainted with Mr. Jenkins and R. C. Lennie of Los Angeles, when riding on the eastern tracks. In his letter he asks to be remembered to all of the Los Angeles wheelmen to whom he is known.

Banker has been riding with a number of European cracks. A movement is on foot to bring this aggregation of talent to the United States. In the event of their deciding upon the tour, they will probably visit the Pacific Coast. The great difficulty in the way of a visit to Los Angeles is the lack of a good track. Banker has hoped that the Santa Monica one-third mile track could be made to fill the bill.

These international races will prove a big drawing card, if the talent that is mentioned in the letter comes to this country, and should they visit Los Angeles, it will be a great epoch in the history of Los Angeles sports. No bicycle racing has been seen here since the national circuit met two years ago. That proved such a flat financial failure that since then eastern wheelmen have not visited this section. The letter to Mr. Jenkins is dated at Hamburg, Germany, July 29, and is in part as follows:

"Here I am away up in Hamburg, Germany. I am to be a contestant in the grand prize of Hamburg race. All of the crack-a-jacks of Europe will compete so that the men who will be there will be the best in the world. I am to ride to the grand prize of Paris race, I had my share of the plums over here, and then I got an attack of sickness which laid me up for a week, and it has been hard work recovering the lost ground."

"During the past winter, I enjoyed the pleasure of a trip through the South of France, Spain, Africa, Tunis and Italy, by means of racing circuit of five riders, organized by Breyer and Coquelle of Paris. I won the grand prize of Paris race this year. Grognon, the Belgian wonder, and myself made up the five.

"To say that we had a good time would be putting it mildly, and, while we did not make any money on the venture, we did not lose any, which is more than can be said for most of the crack-a-jacks. We had a good time, and I am to ride to the grand prize of Paris race, I had my share of the plums over here, and then I got an attack of sickness which laid me up for a week, and it has been hard work recovering the lost ground."

"We are now making arrangements for a similar circuit for America this winter, and have done considerable planning and work to it. We propose to ride in Madison Square Garden, New York, beginning in November, and by small meetings in each city where there is a covered track, to endeavor to work our way out to the Pacific Coast. Once there, we hope by various meetings in larger cities, and so on, then access to Naples, and finally to Rome, where we disbanded on February 3.

About the finest horse in the all-aged division at the East is Pat Dunne's brown colt Bannockburn, who ran second to Imp. in the Suburban, and has since won about half a dozen times. I offered $10,000 for him a few years ago, in behalf of a client in Sedgewick, N. W. who was then politely declined. Really, if the horse is sound, he is worth more money. Bannockburn is by Hayden Blaise by Imp. St. Blaise, thus combining the blood of Desperado and Prince Charlie, the two greatest horses in England between 1862 and 1875. My friend wanted him for the forthcoming breeding season, which begins in September next, and would not pay over half that sum for him. I have had to give up the horse, as he has been sold down.

Bannockburn is one time belonged to "Umbrella" McGuligan, as big a rogue as there is on the American turf. He got his nickname in this way: It had been raining, and McGuligan wanted to bet on his horse Linthgow, as he was the best in the country. Linthgow was a two-year-old gelding, and McGuligan had bet on him as the best in the country. Linthgow was beaten, and McGuligan was very much annoyed, and asked: "What's the matter with your horse?"

"He's got an umbrella," said McGuligan.

"I'll go for you a hundred," said McGuligan, brandishing his umbrella as he spoke.

"I'll take the bet," reported Carroll, "for if the horse wins, there won't be enough umbrellas on the track to pay you."

The trotters are all going like wild horses this year. The Abbott is the best of the lot, having won the first heat in 2:04. The third in the race was the California horse Monterey, and behind him were Kentucky, Union, 2:07½; Eagle Flanagan, 2:07½; Directum Kelly, 2:08½; and John Naylor, 2:08. Monterey, as I believe, has the record for the fastest trotter in the country.

KILLED BY AN OFFICER.

A REDLANDS POLICEMAN SHOOTS CHARLES R. HAWLEY.

Was Aiding a Prisoner to Escape From Police and Refused to Halt—Threats of Lynching. Ball Subscriptions.

Charles R. Hawley was shot by Policeman George H. Walker at Redlands, Saturday evening, and died from his wounds yesterday morning at 1 o'clock. Hawley was aiding Ed. Daniels to make his escape from the officers, and refused to halt when called upon to do so, with the result that a revolver ball was sent crashing through his head.

The affair which led to the killing was a raid by the police upon a place called the "California Restaurant," conducted by Ed. Daniels, and where "blind pig" was unearthened. The officers found a lot of liquor, and while Hawley was loaded into an express wagon, Daniels gave them the slip and made a run through an alley and down Brookside avenue.

Meantime Hawley went to the Club Stables, secured a carriage and double team, and drove down the avenue with all speed. He overtook Daniels, who jumped into the carriage, and the two drove west as fast as the horses could go. The policemen followed on bicycles. Walker and Rivera overtaking the fleeing men just outside the limits of Redlands.

There, the policemen say, they called upon Daniels and Hawley to halt. No attention being paid to the command, Policeman Walker whipped out his revolver and fired. The ball hit Hawley in the left ear, passed through the brain and out at the back of his head. Daniels caught up the reins and urged the horses to greater speed. Then the policemen got vehicles and followed, and about three miles beyond Mount City, they found the horses tied to a tree.

Hawley lay beside the rig, still conscious though somewhat dazed, and Daniels had disappeared. Hawley, who asked the officers why he should want him, was taken back to Redlands, where he soon became unconscious and passed away at the time stated, despite the efforts of physicians to save him.

Redlands was in a state of great excitement over the affair, and threats of lynching the officer were even made upon the streets. The City Marshal and Constables succeeded in restoring quiet.

Yesterday morning a subscription was started for a bond to hold Police-man Walker from jail and about $8000 was subscribed in a short time. A committee was appointed to secure about $12,000 more.

When all the cities of the United States are supplied with California fruits in proportionate quantities, how immense the consumption will be. ## RELIGION AND DEBT.

TORTURED BY INSANITY, A FARMER KILLS HIMSELF.

Charles B. Clapp lies down under a haystack, and pulling the gun trigger with his toe, blows open his skull.

Charles B. Clapp, a victim of religious mania and of financial worries, lay beside a hay stack at his Greenmeadow ranch yesterday morning and, firing a musket with his toe, blew off the top of his skull.

Clapp was converted and joined the Methodist Church two years ago, he has been subject to hallucinations, but has been harmless, and apparently rational on all subjects except religion.

Clapp was formerly a butcher in Pomona. From there he went to Arizona, where he married. Returning to Los Angeles five years ago, he settled on an eighty-acre ranch in Greenmeadow, seven miles south of Los Angeles. Neighbors have long felt certain he was subject to religious mania. The ranch, owned by the deceased, was only lightly mortgaged, and every one considered him a hard-working, industrious rancher. Clapp had two bright children.

Two of his cousins, E. M. and A. Lymen, spent Saturday night with the family. E. M. Lymen was the first person to reach the ranch when the fatal shot was fired. About 5 o'clock yesterday morning Clapp arose and, going to L. D. Blomstrom's house, asked to borrow a gun with which to kill a skunk. Of two firearms offered he selected an old-style muzzle-loading shotgun, and with it, about 10:30 o'clock, E. M. Lymen heard a shot. He found Clapp lying on the ground with the top of his head blown off. Clapp had planned the deed with considerable care, removing his right shoe and touching the trigger with his toe. He probably sat down before discharging the gun.

This quotation is enough I think to cause the City Council or anyone else to proceed slowly in so utterly ignoring the statutes of 1883. The time for action may be longer, but it seems to me it is long enough to cause investigation, for if I am right in my views not a single ordinance for the opening of streets in the city of Los Angeles since the act of 1883 took effect has been passed by the Sanitary Board his resolved to isolate Oporto with a sanitary cordon.

The Coroner was notified by telephone and Deputy Coroner Strubell immediately went to supervise the taking of the remains to Hawry's undertaking establishment, where the inquest will be held at 10:30 a.m. The funeral will take place later.

Mrs. Clapp is prostrated. Her father in Arizona was notified by telegraph and he immediately started for Los Angeles. Clapp's mother lies at death's door and her son's suicide may cause a fatal turn in her illness. She is 75 years old and resides in Pasadena.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In the matter of the opening of streets in the city of Los Angeles, which seems at the present time to cause a great deal of trouble, both to the residents of the city and the City Council, it is the opinion of the members of the university, permanent feature of the university, that the government can be brought to see the advantage of using trained men in its forestry service instead of men appointed through political influence.
